

A dream come true.

We accidentally stumbled in a picture of one of the Leash Candy Frenchies. I contacted Scott to find out about this beautiful boy he had, and he had sold. From day one Scott asked questions, provided expert knowledge, advice, and tips on training with zero selling. A few weeks after talking he offered for us to see a girl that he had planned on keeping but was too small to breed. We fell in love with her and it had literally changed our lives. She is the perfect mix of fun, calm, playful and smart.

Scott and his family are one of a kind and produce healthy, happy and socially adapted puppies. He is always there to answer questions, give suggestions, offer to research and find answers to any question we have. After almost two years later he checks in to see how we are all doing, asks about her personality and truly cares.

Everywhere we go people stop and ask about Quin and it always goes back to her amazing breeder. I have had friends, clients and even a stranger contact me and purchase dogs from Leash Candy. They are all equally happy and thrilled to have found the perfect breeder.

Scott is a rare find, and an expert in every aspect. He takes great pride in breeding the best. He has some of the finest bloodlines in the business due to his research, past work, and desire to create the best puppies. His knowledge, patients, unparalleled level of service have made this a seamless transition (we were not dog people).

We highly recommend Scott and we have our dream dog!
